

Certificate for an employee declaring they have a long term condition which puts them at increased risk from Coronavirus

Certain groups of people are at an increased risk of becoming unwell if they contract Coronavirus because they have other long term health conditions. The government has issued advice on which groups of people are affected by this advice and the additional precautions they should take. This advice can be found at:

<https://www.nhs.uk/conditions/coronavirus-covid-19/advice-for-people-at-high-risk/>

Advice for employers and Coronavirus, including advice on helping people who may be more vulnerable due to a long term condition, can be found at:

Your employee has declared that they have a long term condition and are providing you with this certificate as evidence of this. At this time of extreme pressure the doctors at this practice will not be providing any routine or private medical reports to employers. We trust you will understand our position on this.

I (name of employee) declare that I have a long term medical condition which puts me at an increased risk of illness if I contract Coronavirus. I have read and understood the government guidance on which conditions are included in this advice on the website <https://www.nhs.uk/conditions/coronavirus-covid-19/advice-for-people-at-high-risk/> and confirm that I do have one of these conditions.

I would like my employer to make all reasonable efforts to help me continue to work by offering me the option of remote working from home where possible. If this is not possible then I will remain at home until government advice changes and I can return to work.

I understand that a false declaration may lead to disciplinary action by my employer.

Signed (signature of employee)
